

INNOVATIVE TRAILBLAZER BY TRADITION

“Always one idea in front, always one solution ahead” – that is RUVILLE’s recipe for success. It is a guiding concept that for 90 years has formed the basis of innovative system solutions for engines and chassis.

Based on our analysis of the constantly changing Independent Aftermarket (IAM) we develop appropriate repair solutions with one eye to the future. We never compromise on materials, surface finish, functionality or precision. Our aim is – and always has been – to make the work of our partners easier by providing them with ready-to-use parts and total solutions in OE quality. For example, we were the first to bring a water pump kit including thermostat onto the market and thus to offer a safe and affordable repair solution of OE quality but in kit form.

Today this innovative way of thinking still contributes to our success and we can state with pride that our ideas, our solutions and our readiness to adapt definitely pay off. We are currently looking at a market share of around 80 per cent for European and Asian applications. Our expertise continues beyond the initial development stage to production and on into logistics and service. In our role as trailblazer we see the bigger picture and lead the way systematically. Equally we are making constant improvements in our approach to customer orientation.

We provide special training courses to support technical instruction workshops. The wide range of manufacturers and models on the market make it essential to have practical specialist expertise, which needs to be updated on a regular basis. And that is what we offer you the whole time. We are there for you. So you can reap the benefits of a partner who is always one idea in front and always one solution ahead.
